THE CANDIDATE TO SPEAK WEDNESDAY

The Only Speech to Be at Madison Square Grddens

By Bulletin Leased Wire.

Oyster Bay, Oct. 25.—On account of threatening letters received by Col. Roosevelt and the presence in Oyster Bay of a stranger who attempted to take his way into the colonel's house, steps were taken yesterday to guard the life of the ex-president. A judicious decision was reached to have him speak at the Canadian Club on Wednesday next. If no other complications arise, he will be able to defend himself.

Col. Roosevelt had intended to impress today and his physician said he would be able to speak at the Madison Square Garden meeting in New York on Wednesday if no other complications arise. But they said that he would be unable to do any further campaign work.

The man who attempted to seize Col. Roosevelt arrived in Oyster Bay this afternoon and was captured at the Sagamore Hill. He was not at the door by the colonel's secretary. He insisted he had been sent by Col. Roosevelt although told that no visitors were being received. The colonel's physician said he believed him that it was useful and he had gone away.

The stranger returned to the village and wrote a long rambling letter to Col. Roosevelt and then disappeared. No trace of him could be found in Oyster Bay. It was not known whether he had left. The attempt on Col. Roosevelt's life was made while he was staying at Oyster Bay, one of the colonel's physicians to whom he had turned over "cranks" and others who attacked him which Col. Roosevelt has received since his return to Oyster Bay. In some instances whole families were threatened and the man made against Col. Roosevelt and it was decided that the danger of another attempt to assassinate him was sufficient to warrant his removal to a place to guard him.

The colonel's physician said he would have him get out of doors as much as possible, believing that he would be benefited greatly by doing so, but that an attempt to seize him again or another attack. It is probable that Col. Roosevelt will be kept in the house until adequate protection has been received.

Should Glass Bigger Subsidy?

Quebec, Oct. 25.—That the Dominion government should further winter navigation on the St. Lawrence by giving subsidy to the steamer service on the river between Montreal and Quebec until January fifth is the suggestion made by E. C. Fry, Lloyds agent here.

The states subsidized its shipping in order to encourage promotion in every way, then why should not Canada emulate the example?" added Mr. Fry.

Winnipeg, Oct. 25.—The name of Walter Trueman, charged with theft and assault, and E. J. McMurray, with assault, appeared on the dockets of the court yesterday. Both these lawyers are charged by Alex McMicken, magistrate at the trial.

E. H. Levinson, crown prosecutor, asked the magistrate when the case was made public Mr. Morgenthaler said Thomas Ryan and August Schmid, who were identified with the party as to their large contributions to the previous Democratic campaign, gave evidence at the Democratic headquarters here yesterday.

In a personal statement to the newspaper men when the report was made public Mr. Morgenthaler said Thomas Ryan and August Schmid, who were identified with the party as to their large contributions to the previous Democratic campaign, gave evidence at the Democratic headquarters here yesterday.

Justice J. W. Gerard, of New York, who was identified with the party as to their large contributions to the previous Democratic campaign, gave evidence at the Democratic headquarters here yesterday.

RECRUITING FOR ARMY.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has been in the trials that confronted both city and company departments in endeavoring to assemble a police force that would be equal to the requirements of law and the proper treatment of the public. It had also been in the trials to prove that the individuals did not assimilate with those of the city. Why was not for him to be the chief of the police force? He would place the police force of western Canada in a place where no towns on the line could no longer expect to be sent out by the company were not of the right caliber to meet the demands of the community that had been said.

Lillian Russell may say woman who has wrinkles is not beautiful, but she is responsible for the pleasure and fresh air she conveys to others. She is a good example to others to serve than nostrums and cosmetics. The chief objection to cosmetics is that they are not good for the skin. Ordinary mineral oil, for instance, actually removes a layer of old skin, possibly by gradual and imperceptible degrees. The woman who uses them only once, procurable at any drug store, will soon unveil an entire new face, and will be able to do so with an exquisite girlish color. Of course cutaneous plethashes like pinheads, warts, etc., will not be removed, but liver spots, disappear with the discarded skin.

It is better to remove wrinkles by face bath which also produces natural results, it is made by dissolving orange peels in a half pint water bath. It is wonderfully effective.

RECRUITING POLICY OF CANADIAN PACIFIC

How the C. P. R. Is Coping with a Big Problem in Public Safety and Security of Canadian Property.—A "Secret" Police Force.

"An Imperial police force, having for its cardinal principles 'Civility, Sobriety, Cleanliness, Moral and Physical Health,' is to be recruited by the Canadian Pacific Railway company by the vice-president in charge of western lines. That official has the thought of the need of having a police force to take care of the public, to enforce the laws, to be the custodians of his property, which had previously been employed and above the 'secret' type and bearing the name of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, the public or the employees which those individuals are supposed to bear, a provincial force and at the same time independent of the latter being in close conjunction with them."

RECRUITING FOR ARMY.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has been in the trials that confronted both city and company departments in endeavoring to assemble a police force that would be equal to the requirements of law and the proper treatment of the public or the employees which those individuals did not assimilate with those of the city. Why was not for him to be the chief of the police force? He would place the police force of western Canada in a place where no towns on the line could no longer expect to be sent out by the company were not of the right caliber to meet the demands of the community that had been said.

The result was that he ordered the head of the railway police to recruit a force extending from Fort William to Galt for army veterans.

But the men who were recruited besides the mere title of army veterans before they get a place on this force must have served their term of enlistment; they must have the service medal, including the battle medal of the Imperial army or from the Royal Northwest Mounted Police without the shadow of a疑ence.

TRUTH OF CORPSE.

It was something of a task that he assigned to the chief of the department, who consisted of the 159 men required about 88 have been secured. Every one of these men must be a man of character, sober, sober on duty at the stations of the Canadian Pacific Railway wearing the uniform of the Canadian Pacific Railway or the ribbon of the army of Great Britain or on the Royal Mounted Police forces.

Each recruit has been trained in the school that means rigid discipline; lessons that teach him to hold his tongue, to be silent, to be quiet, to be a hard master and if one doubts it all he is told to do is to follow out of the school. The chief of the department is to tell the public what time the trains arrive and depart, what costs it to get to a certain place, how to get there, to rain all summer. If he will not venture an opinion on the subject he is told to remain silent until he receives the order to speak. He is to report the officer for insolence, for the principal duty of this office is to see that the men are not idle, but are doing their training to see that travelers are informed of the arrival and departure of trains and when and where they are to go, what a criminal can ask. In the detection of criminals and the general protection of the public and the protection of the property of a great company like the Canadian Pacific Railway that police work is to be given to the men to prevent as far as possible the work of officers of city and province wherever located.

Contract from Winnipeg.

At present the force is divided into four divisions to correspond with the Prairie Provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Each division is in charge of a chief inspector, who is to have two inspectors, a senior constable and all the constables that the chief inspector sees fit. The chief inspector is at the headquarters of the general superintendence and the two inspectors are not near the chief inspector and the two inspectors do not wear the uniform but the senior constable are armed with a revolver and some of them having been sergeants in the Imperial service, all under the general supervision of the chief of the department at Winnipeg.

The first duty to which a new man is assigned is to learn Winnipeg so that he may be directly under the eye of the chief of the department until he has learned the business and the work that is expected of him. He has here had pointed to him the necessity of coming to the office of the chief of the department in which the force is encamped. "Civility, Sobriety, Cleanliness," after which he is drafted to the latter division.

Compliments to the Director of the Canadian Northern Railway. The uniform is well made of material. It is a design passed on by the Vice-President, and I am complimentary terms have been applied to it by civilians as well as by the uniform men received that there have already been requests from other cities for the uniforms.

When his Royal Highness the Governor General of Canada, Mr. Borden, was here he complimented the vice-president on the excellence of the C. P. R. police and gave him his hearty endorsement of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, the vice-president in charge of western lines.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1912.

A TIMELY VISIT.

The Railway Commission will visit the West next month. It is the western railroads' usual practice to visit with the Government. It should enable the Commissioners to learn at first hand what a grain blockade means to the West, and, therefore, to the whole country, and also to consider ways and means for avoiding congestion in future.

ONE QUALIFICATION.

Mr. Monk has departed for the South, to recuperate the energies wasted in the struggle over the navy issue. No doubt he needs a rest, for the contest has been prolonged, and may be believed to have been carried on with energy. Whether to succeed or fail, the work of Public Works is yet a matter of uncertainty. Three names have been mentioned. The chief claim of each to public approval was that his appointment would prevent Hon. Robert Rogers getting control of the great spending department.

AGAIN AT IT.

The steel-makers are again besieging the Ministers for the re-imposition of the bounties. They evidently think that favors postured are not favors denied, and that the Government should now consider itself strong enough to grant the desired bounties. Perhaps they have taken note of the signs of the times, and conclude that the Ministers will be needing all the favors they can get. Monday they base their demands upon the grounds, and plead for the bounty both because they were useful to the Ministers last fall, and because they are ready to be useful to them again at a price.

KEEPS THEM GUESSING.

The leaders of Mexico are being now the Government are proceeding to deal with the present rebels as President Diaz used to deal with them. That they thought the treatment barbarous when they were its victims does not at all prevent them thinking it is good now that they are the administrators and their enemies the victims. It must be hard, however, for the fellow whose ambitions are to steer clear of politics and make a honorable living for his family to avoid being shot or hanged by one or other of the contending factions in Mexico. His life, however, must also be getting clear if this element in the community that as they must have a tyranny with its hangings and shootings, a settled tyranny is preferable to an unchangeable one. Under Diaz they at least knew that if they kept from being shot by the Government troops they were tolerably safe. Now, if they try to avoid giving the Government cause for shooting them their action is likely to be taken by the insurrectionists as a warrant for hanging or burning them.

CIVIL SERVICE "REFORM."

The Montreal harbour commissioners have resigned. The commissioners were appointed some years ago to superintend the development of the harbour facilities of Montreal, to which purpose the Dominion was devoting a large amount of money. At that time they had administered the trust with honesty and capability does not seem to have been questioned. Many tributes have been paid by shipping men—and not a few by men on the other side of politics to the way in which the improvements have been carried out under their direction. The truth is, however, that down did well, not, however, from the clamorous lead of other bureaus.

vaded Ottawa on the accession of the new Government. It was notorious last winter that ways and means without number were being employed to oust the commissioners from office, and that only the fear of the consequences of the thing induced the Ministers to go cautiously in conceding the demands of their hangers-on. The Ministers seem to think that the public have now got used to the plunder system and will not pay much attention to another slaughter, therefore, "resigned," under pressure, no doubt, of the interferences and studied provocation usually employed to get faithful and capable men to vacate positions which some other men want. The incident is illustrative of how the "civil service reform" plank in Mr. Borden's platform is being carried out.

WHY NOT APPLY NOW?

Nothing has been heard yet from any reliable source as to the Ministers taking steps to secure from the Inter-State Commerce Commission of the United States through rates on Canadian grain over American routes. Surely it cannot be the intention of the Government to repeat the folly of last year, and make application to the Commission only after the congestion has really occurred.

The business meeting opened with the reading of the minutes of last year's convention.

F. T. Fisher was thanked for his services as president of the local Northern Alberta, and the convention decided to change their name from the Northern Alberta Teachers Association to "Nameless." There is more truth in that.

The resolution concerning the name of the new Edmonton District Teachers Association, Capt. Supt. McCaig moved an amendment that it be changed to "Nameless" Teachers' Association, was later withdrawn.

The amendment owing to the Red Deer association now being called by the nameless.

Supt. McCaig then moved another amendment that the executive committee be given power to change the name of the Red Deer association for the release of the name Central Alberta.

Heads of the various districts were present by the association meeting at Edmonton, which is many miles south of the geographical centre of the province.

The To Get Better Attendance.

A resolution was carried to devise methods to increase the interest and complete attendance at the sessions of the convention.

The resolution had been passed and Capt. Supt. McCaig suggested a radical change in the program, so as to provide subjects of greater interest to the teachers.

Miss K. Cheesman suggested that the teachers complain of the interest of the program should be put upon the committee to prepare the program to meet the needs and demand the difficulty of program making.

On notice of Inspector File, the members and friends of the church committee prepared an interesting program and that the teachers should attend the meeting and take part in the discussions.

A resolution had been proposed by the committee responsible for the first day of the convention, and the election by ballot took place on the second day of the convention, and the election was carried, and election masters were left to stand as election masters. The new officers chosen were:
